Focus Is The New Productivity
Mridu Parikh - Owner, Life Is Organized, LLC

We all have busy lives, along with the stress and chaos that comes with busy lives. Our June speaker is someone who helps people enjoy successful and productive businesses, careers, and home lives. She is Mridu Parikh (pronounced mree-thu) who is a national speaker specializing in productivity and organization at work and in life.

Mridu will outline three simple ways to skyrocket your productivity. She will inspire you to use tools, strategies, and insights to reach your goals, feel accomplished, and work free from distractions every day. It may sound like an impossible goal, but Mridu has a successful track record in this area.

Mridu is presently the Owner of Life Is Organized, LLC here in Nashville. She helps organizations and individuals become more organized through consulting, coaching, speaking, and training. Mridu also has her own ROKU channel with over 200 home organizing videos which allows her to reach and serve an engaged, global community.

Prior to the four years of owning Life Is Organized, LLC, Mridu founded Memories Organized, LLC which was a professional organizing service specializing in homes, photos, and videos. She provided hands-on organizing expertise as well as coaching services to streamline and declutter homes and schedules

Prior to the approximately four years of running the Memories Organized LLC organization, Mridu held a variety of employment positions with companies both in Nashville and the New York City area. These positions ranged from Assistant to Business Developer and to Ad Sales Manager to Account Manager, Account Executive, and to New Business Manager. Mridu has over twenty year's business experience with emphasis on advertising and marketing.

Mridu has a B.A. degree in Communications from Boston College. She and her family live in the Green Hills area of Nashville. She moved to Nashville twelve years ago when her husband took a new job. They have two children, boys ten and thirteen. Mridu says her hobbies are mostly reading and taking care of two almost-teenage boys. She mentions that in high school she was voted "Class Clown" which probably led her to a public speaking career.

Mridu Parikh

Mridu is in her second term of Chapter President of the National Association of Professional Organizers.

Mridu is both a knowledgeable and entertaining speaker. This should be a great program for all of us.
